All of them are President's noble words. of course untrue to the South in every sectional entest. They have no State pride. If there were a corresponding class in the North they would certainly be considered as "traitors." What would JUBAL EARLY the Advance. have done if he had been present in the Chicago Convention under such circumstances?

The negro Landston spoke in the Chicago Convention. Of course his speech bad the usual sectional feature. He said : "There are seven millions of negroes to-day in this country, and they ask you to nominate Joun SHERMAN. All the poorer whites in the South ask you to nominate him."

Langston knows that the " poorer whites " in the South are as much opposed as the richer whites to any kind of republicanism or shermanism that would class them with the negroes. But nobody was surprised at the declaration. It pleased the sectional convention which he was addressing to be told that there were in the South whites so degraded as to be willing to be patronized by a negro. And thus Langston made his point. Perhaps he expects to get the votes of some of those "poorer whites" as a candidate for Congress.

These are only a few instances of the manifestation of sectional batred by the members of the Chicago Convention. We need not hunt up more of them. The evidence is abundant to convict the Republican party of sectionalism without referring to these last demonstrations of that feeling. It is a sectional and unpatrictic and therefore a wicked party. It has outlived its day. It is behind the times. It ought to be buried out of sight next November. It will never again pretend to be alive after CLEVELAND shall once more have consigned it to the grave. Let all Virginians do their part in this good work.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—The National Democratic Committee and the Notification Committee appointed by the late Democratic Convention to notify the President and Vice-President of their nomination for President and Vice-President met at the Arlington Hotel to-day. The Notification Committee met at 10 o'clock, with Hon. P. A. Collins, of Massachusetts, in the chair and Thomas S. Pettit, of Kentucky, as secretary. The proceedings were conducted in secret session. The committee adjourned at 12 o'clock, and it was amnouseed that it had decided to notify the President at 2 o'clock to-day and ed be felt the weight of his imperial power. It was pacific and conservative and a sharp rebuke to his critics. A cable dispatch says The first applause greeted him when be made reference to his imperial duties, and "the applause was renewed when he announced the adoption of the programme of 1881." This latter statement is of peculiar significance. Here are the Emperor's words declaring his adherence to that programme :

This occasion reminds me most vividly of the scene when, four years ago, I received a message from my party similar to that which you now deliver. With all that has passed smee that day, I can truly say that the feeling of awe with which I heard the summons then is intensified many fold when it is repeated now. Four years ago I knew that our chief executive office if not carefully guarded might drift little by httle away from the people to whom it belonged and become a perversion of all it ought to be, but I did not know how much its moorings had aiready been loosened. I knew four years ago how well devised were the principles of true Democracy for the successful operation of a government by the successful operation of a government by the people and for the people, but I did not know how absolutely necessary their application then was for the restoration to the people of their safety and prosperity. I knew then that abuses and extravagancies had crept into the management of public affairs, but I did not know their numerous forms nor the tenacity of their grasp. I knew then something of the butterness of cases that had come under his notice. I knew, too, that the American neopic were particle and just, but I did not know how grandly they loved their country and how noble and generous they were.

I shall not dwell upon the acts and the history of the Administration now drawing to its close. Its record is grandly they loved their country and the sole in another the state of the stat
